Brief Notes From Our Exbellent Exchanges on Live Topics

Palo Alto's City Hall is too small for present needs.

Editor Royle of the Hollister Bee was thrown from an automobile and dislocated his left knee, a couple of weeks ago. You have our sincere sympathy, brother.

In Mountain View, a while ago, a house belonging to a Modern Woodman burned to the ground and last Sunday a band of his brother members came and built a new house for him, all in one day. That's pretty good don't you think?

Santa Clara is running an ad. in the Sunset Magazine. That's a good way to throw money away.

East San Jose has organized an Association of knocker-boost fellows.

"Tarriff" Bill is still bothering the Senate.

Halfmoon Bay is to have a High School Bond Election.

Sunnyvale is having the jim-jams working overtime to get her fruit out of the way. Her three or four canneries make things lively there alright.

The Mountain View Leader says, "When President Taft comes to Mountain View, we will—er—oh we will all right!" You bet you will Bro. Smith.

The San Francisco Call says that the recent law prohibiting the sale of liquor near Stanford University is a dead letter. Renewals to Menlo Park saloons have been granted. This sounds very peculiar to us.

Congregational Church, August 8.

Rev. Geo. L. Marsh, formerly of Bulgaria, now of Paso Robles, will preach in the morning, at the Congregational Church. Also in the evening at the Union Service at the M. E. Church. There will be no evening service at this Church, and no C. E. as it is the bimonthly Union Service at the M. E. Church.

You will find our meetings Bright Brief and Brotherly. Live Topics and a cordial welcome for the stranger. If you have no other church home, you are invited to worship with us while you are in town.

Geo. E. Atkinson, Pastor.

A farewell party was tendered Miss Irene Pannell, a week ago Thursday evening, at her home, by a few of her closest friends. Good luck and health in her absence, were wished her.

Train Kills A Horse

Melvin Farley Narrowly Escapes Being Crushed Under Wheels

Wednesday afternoon while the 4:20 train to Santa Cruz was coming rapidly into the station here at Campbell, the engine struck and mortally wounded a horse attached to Sid Dowton's delivery wagon, which Melvin Farley was driving, at the crossing on Campbell av.

It seems that the train's approach was not noticed by Mr. Farley until he had gotten onto the track. He immediatly backed the horse up but it was too late. The engine caught the horse and hurled her to one side, inflicting a deep chest wound and breaking her upper jaw, necessitating the shooting of the animal.

Mr. Farley can consider himself lucky that the affair was not more serious. As it was he escaped without a scratch.

Great caution is necessary in crossing the track at this point as the buildings make it impossible to see the trains.

Two boys of Campbell are trying to earn a pony selling the Saturday evening Post. They are Chart Sanders and Max Bartholomew. They deserve encouragement from the people here.

Harlow Plimpton, wife and baby, returned from Trinity County Wednesday night. They had a fine time and reported deer and fish very plentiful. They have been gone about two weeks.

Mr. Burr, manager of the former syrup factory here in town, is engaged in removing the machinery and shipping it to San Francisco. Ed. Relfe, Ed. white, and Will Spiegle are helping him.

Notice to Fruit Growers.

Notice to fruit growers of Campbell and vicinity. We have the agency of many of the largest canneries and commission merchants of San Francisco, Oakland and Los Angeles. We will be in position to handle a large portion of the green fruit in this section. As we will not have a regular agent in the field, it would be well for the growers to call on us before disposing of their fruits.

Prof. and Mrs. Powers left for their home in Paso Robles Friday. Prof. Powers will resume his duties in the Paso Robles High School.

Mr. Zard Bagwell, of Morgan Hill, visited friends here for a couple of days last week. Mr. Bagwell had not been in Campbell for nine years.

The W. C. T. U. has taken over the Coffee Club from Mrs. Joy, who was managing it, and will hire a cook, keeping the management under the organization.

Mr. Antlemon, who recently returned from a trip to Kalamath Falls for the purpose of investigating the possibilities of the country, thinks that Oregon and Washington can't be compared with the Santa Clara County. He says it rains almost every day there and the elevation is such at Kalamath Falls that frost can be expected at any time.

Last Sunday the local team of baseballers journeyed to Palo Alto to play the "Outlaws" of that place and took the surprised team into camp before they were aware the game had begun.

Palo Alto has a very good team and they know how to play ball, but Campbell knows how to play better. This game was one of the first in a series of games under the new league which has just been formed. The boys are out for the championship and here's hoping they get it. The only thing we regret to notice is that but two of the players are subscribers to the home paper, the Press. We'll help you boys if you'll help us.

PRESS NOTES.

The Misses Cook returned from Vancouver last Friday. They reported a delightful time while there. In Vancouver they visited Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Archibald, who were at one time residents of Campbell.

Owing to the fact that the cannery has practically completed its apricot canning most of the force was laid off Wednesday though they returned to work Thursday. By Monday it is expected they will be rushed with peaches and pears.

Crotice Orr, of Parkville, Mo. is visiting her father, J. W. Brown on Second street. She is accompanied by her son Harry and his wife of Salt Springs. They expect to see the exposition at Seattle before returning home.

A. R. Alison with his wife and daughter of Peoria, Kansas, visited his nephew, Roy Alison and wife at the cannery a few days ago and expressed great interest in the workings of the concern. After looking through the cannery they went thru the Geo. E. Hyde & Co. Dryer.

All Trains Now Stop at Campbell

Through the Efforts of C. Berry We Now Will Have Train Service—Railway Contemplates Many Improvements

LAST Sunday, October 1st a new schedule went into effect on all the S. P. lines out of San Francisco and San Jose. Among the many changes made in the runs was that concerning us. Now the trains will all stop at Campbell, and not most of them go flying through here like mad. Our station agent, C. Berry, by his untiring efforts pnrsuaded the officials to have them stop.

That the Western Pacific Railroad is making quite a difference in the conduct of the Southern Pacific, is seen when the fact that over three million dollars are to be spent on improvements in the penninsula and around the bay is considered. The penninsula local passenger service of the railroad between San Francisco and San Jose is to be handled by steel motor cars of the type which are being used around Sacramento at present. These cars will also, it is rumored, supersede the electric cars on the San Jose and Los Gatos Interurban which runs thru Campbell and also on the line from San Jose through Cupertino and onto the Mayfield-Los Gatos Cut-off. This would do away with the necessity of changing from the electric to the steam cars.

While we believe that the motor car service will be used between San Francisco and San Jose, still we hardly think the electric cars will be superseded by gasoline. The reason for this belief is that the connections between the Southern Pacific and the Interurban at Cupertino, have undoubtedly been made for electricity, as the feed wires are run onto the cutoff at that point already, and ready for connection to be made with the electric railroad at Palo Alto. As has been proven, gasoline cars are too expensive to operate where stops are frequent, so we are led to believe that before long, one will be able to go from San Jose to Palo Alto at least, if not to San Francisco, entirely under electric power through Cupertino, Los Altos and through Stanford property.

While we are on the subject we would say that the Board of Supervisors of San Francisco have ordered the closing of Langton Street in that city, to enable the Western Pacific to secure a site for a freight depot. We may expect, in the near future, to have a great network of railroads all through this valley, for as surely as one railroad comes to San Francisco, more will follow. Watch us grow. Keep your eyes on this penninsula for the next ten years and if there is not the greatest boom here in that time we miss our guess.

Dwight Ross and wife of Napa, have moved to San José where Mr. Ross has accepted a position with the Penninsula Ry. Mrs. Ross is daughter of Harry Brandenburg and wife.

FROM ALL THE COAST STATES

Occurrences Along the Pacific Slope Presented in Compendious Array.

Passing Events Among Your Neighbors Briefly Told in Short, Newsy Paragraphs.

Stockton.—The grain crop throughout San Joaquin county this year will exceed the average per acre of any ever produced, according to the latest figures compiled.

Los Angeles.—In an argument over a game of croquet, Jesse Kingsley, aged 10, struck Lovirt Irbin, aged 8, 1234 Ivy street, over the head with a croquet mallet, injuring him so that he died in a few hours. Both boys are colored. There will be no prosecution.

Oakland.—Samuel Adams Shields, 72 years of age, who was detailed for a time to protect with his person President Lincoln, was married here last week. His bride was Mrs. Susie R. Carlson, 46 years of age. The ceremony was performed in a local G. A. R. meeting hall.

Spokane.—"I will meet any man in the world at Graeco-Roman wrestling and put up $1000 as a side bet, winner to take purse and gate receipts," announced George Auger, a t raveling giant who was here last week. Auger says he is 8 feet 2 inches tall. He claims seven years' training as a wrestler.

Nevada City, Cal.—Orlin L. Chapman and Ida Chapman, children of Mrs. Sergeant Chapman of Prospect Hill, are confined to bed from bee stings. The two children were hunting for hazel nuts when they stirred up a nest of bees. Both were terribly stung before they could get out of reach of the bees.

Oakland.—Chinese girl telephone operators are soon to be installed in a special Chinese branch of the Oakland telephone service of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company. The system of telephone connections in the Chinese quarter is now being installed, and the girls are being instructed in their duties.

Pomona.—J. D. Palomares, aged 68 years, one of the Spanish pioneers of Pomona valley, who has lived here since he was 3 years old, died a few days ago from apoplexy. The Palomares name is perpetuated here in street, hotel and company nomenciature. The deceased is survived by a widow and ten children.

Berkeley.—In consideration of the added work and responsibility attendant upon the occupation of the new Polytechnic High School building, which will be used by the pupils of the high school and become a part of that institution on August 26, the salary of Professor Morris C. James, who is to have charge of the combined school, has been raised to $3000 a year.

Sacramento.—Mayor White has asked the chamber of commerce to devise means whereby J. B. Haggin can be induced to subdivide and sell the vast rancho Del Paso of 44,000 acres, north of Sacramento. The mayor has been after Haggin for 20 years to cut up the Spanish grant, but he refused to do so except for cold cash. A special committee will endeavor to persuade Haggin to throw the land open to colonists.

San Francisco.—Three sailors of the United States ship Albany declare that Tricksey Dell, a young woman who is employed in a dance hall on Pacific street, was accurately named. On complaint of the trio, Tricksey was arrested and charged with grand larceny. R. A. Arnold, one of the sailors, alleges she stole $49 from his person. Martin Haley declares she extracted $20 from his pockets, and Stephen Nensell swears that she took $19 from him.

Lewiston, Cal.—The mammoth tunnel, two miles above this city, to be used by the Trinity river mining company in turning aside the Trinity river, is complete, and the river will be turned into it August 15. The tunnel leaves more than two miles of the river bed dry, and this will be dredged by the company. The company proposes also to make use of the power generated by turning the water into the tunnel, and is now constructing a power plant to furnish electricity to valley towns.

BUG EXPERTS TO HOLD THEIR CONVENTION THIS MONTH

Meeting of Pacific Slope Entomologists Will Take Place in Portland.

Portland.—Announcement has been made by Professor C. W. Woodworth, president of the Pacific Slope Association of Economic Entomologists, that the first annual convention of the association will be held in Portland, Ore., this month in conjunction with the convention of the American National Association for the Advancement of Science.

Professor Woodworth, who, as head of the University of California, was instrumental in the organization of the association, has been working with the executive committee preparing the programme for the convention.

The meeting of the association will be of vital import to the farmers of the Pacific Slope. Scientists from fifteen states west of the Rockies will gather to discuss the various insect pests and other phases of the entomological work. The problem of the Argentine ant and various other ants, grasshoppers, caterpillars, mosquitoes, white fly, common house fly, various scales, the woolly aphis, codling moth and the methods of eradicating these, will be taken under consideration and a concerted campaign mapped out.

Each state will be represented by a delegation, and days will be set apart for the consideration of the problems peculiar to the different sections of the Pacific Slope.

Has Bats in the Belfry.

Marysville.—Bats in alarming numbers have taken possession of the belfry and upper lobby of the First Presbyterian church in this city. The church has closed for the summer and a war against the pests will be waged. Thousands of the bats have made their homes in the belfry and upper structure and all efforts thus far to dislodge them have been in vain. Carbolic acid in large quantities will now be used, and it is believed that within six weeks the pests will be annihilated. The noise of the bats during the night can be heard a block away and the stench is becoming intolerable.

"Millions for Defense."

Los Angeles.—Fortifications costing possibly $6,000,000 will be located around San Pedro harbor if no attempt is made to "hold up" the government on fortification sites. This was brought out at a meeting between General Arthur Murray, chief of the coast defense and representatives of the Harbor Commission. General Murray made it clear that any attempt to "hold up" the Government by private interests would hamper the Government in carrying out its plans and probably prevent them from being consummated.

Joke Ends Disastrously.

Los Angeles.—A practical joke had almost a serious ending and resulted in William Gillespie of State street, Long Beach, being severely burned when one of his friends focused a sun glass on his celluloid collar. The collar burned like tinder and Gillespie ran up the street terror-stricken. Only the presence of mind of one of those present in throwing a blanket over the running man saved him from serious injury.

Inherits Estate From Shipmate.

Vallejo.—City Treasurer George Warford has gone to Bremerton, Wash., to claim an estate valued at $25,000 and left to the local official by a former shipmate in the Navy, Edward Krogh. Warford and Krogh were very chummy in the service and when Krogh died without issue he made a will leaving his entire estate, consisting of Bremerton town lots, to his former chum.

No Loose Dogs in Palo Alto.

Palo Alto.—The high moral atmosphere of this little college town is keyed up another notch by the introduction in the town council of a stringent ordinance in regard to the care of dogs. If this ordinance becomes a law no dog may appear on the street without a chain, and the owner of the canine must be firmly attached to the other end.

Climbs Tree to Serve Summons.

Kittanning, Pa.—At the top of a cherry tree Sheriff Chambers Frick found Mrs. K. Crawford Buzzard when he went to serve a divorce subpena on her. She failed to respond to the Sheriff's request to come down, consequently he climbed clear to the top of the tree and served the writ there.

Breaks Weight Throwing Record.

Providence, R. I.—John J. Flanagan of New York broke the world's record with the 56 pound weight at the Irish Day games at Rocky Point, his throw being 30 feet, 10 inches.

War and Revolt Continue Sway in Alfonse's Domain

Madrid.—The anarchistic "revolution" in Barcelona has been crushed and the Spanish forces at Melilla, in Morocco, are holding their own against the Moors. This is the official view of the Spanish crisis.

General Marina, commander of the military forces at Melilla is satisfied that he can meet the situation with the troops now at his disposal and the reinforcements which are on their way to him.

Paris.—Though official Spain minimizes the Catalonian insurrection and insists that the revolt has been crushed, a far different story emanates from the frontier. Refugees and travelers declare that the revolt is still rampant and that desperate combats continue at Barcelona.

Although some of the news from the frontier is from revolutionary sources, and therefore open to suspicion, more reliable intelligence leads to the belief that although Barcelona is calmer, the insurrectionists have taken to the suburbs and the outlying district where they are sowing the seeds of revolt and inflaming the populace to maintain the struggle to the bitter end.

Barcelona province is in the hands of prowling bands of workmen heavily armed, who occupy the railroads and highways to prevent communication and who refuse entrance to newcomers. Cassan de la Selva is in the hands of the revolutionists and at Paloamos, where the monastery was fired and the monks tortured, the situation is described as alarming and the lives of foreigners endangered. The opinion in semi-official circles here concerning Spain's internal situation is pessimistic, and the belief is expressed that the trouble is not over. Official Madrid announces that Barcelona is tranquil.

FACTORS IN SPANISH CRISIS WHICH MAY INVOLVE EUROPE

Europe is watching the Spanish crisis with anxiety, for three of the great powers at least have tremendous interests at stake and all three may be drawn into the affair at a day's notice. Here are the events leading up to the crisis, and the interests of the powers which are threatened:

Spanish War in Morocco—Mulai Hafid, Sultan of Morocco, demanded the evacuation of the towns on the north coast occupied by Spain for hundreds of years. The principal towns are Melilla, near the boundary of French Algiers, and Ceuta, opposite the fortress of Gibraltar. Spain's refusal to evacuate the cities led to the present war.

England's Gibraltar in Peril—If the Moors drive Spain from Ceuta, any power gaining control of that port would be able to dispute England's control of the Straits of Gibraltar. England would not permit an unfriendly power to seize Ceuta.

Where France Is Endangered—If Spain is driven from the seaport of Melilla, any power gaining control of that point would be able to menace French possessions in Algiers. France would not permit an unfriendly power to occupy Melilla.

Where Germany Comes In—Germany today practically own the Bay of Tangiers, opposite Gibraltar. Within ten years Germany has purchased, and holds through private ownership, most of the real estate fronting the bay which, strategically, is as important as Gibraltar. England would not consent to formal German occupation of the Bay of Tangiers.

The Rebellion in Spain.—The grave disturbances in Spain are primarily a revolt against militarism and against the oppressive burdens which it heaps on the people who are least able to bear them. The greatest antagonism has been aroused by the mobilization of the reserves. Many of the men in the reserve forces have large families, without means of support other than what they themselves can earn. Touching scenes occurred when the poor workmen were called to the colors. They wandered distractedly about the streets leading their children, whom finally they were forced to abandon. At the last moment, however, the government decided to keep the reserves in the home garrisons, and charitable people came forward to care for the unprotected wives and children.

Thousands Hungry and Homeless in Fire-Swept Osaka

Osaka, Japan.—Thousands of persons are homeless and facing hunger as a result of the distrous fire that swept this city last week. A system of relief has been organized by the municipal authorities, but it is inadequate to supply all needs. Outside cities and towns are sending in contributions. The number of casualties has not yet been determined, but hundreds of injured are crowding the hospitals.

The latest estimates are that twenty thousand buildings were destroyed, these including banks, stock exchange, museum, Government edifices and factories. While at present it is impossible accurately to state the losses, these are given roughly at several million yen. It is feared that some insurance companies will fail as a result of heavy losses they will have to pay.

The firemen fought valiantly against the odds of lack of water and high wind, and many fell unconscious while working. Had not the water supply been curtailed by the existing drought it is believed the fire would have been quenced without great damage.

San Joaquin Rancher Claims World's Record Hay Crop

Stockton.—What is claimed to be a world's record in the production of hay was established by H. D. Heltzel, a farmer near Waterloo, in San Joaquin county. This year he used eleven sacks of Chilean wheat in planting fourteen acres, and instead of cutting it for wheat he decided to make hay of the lot. He secured eighty-six tons, and though early in the season, he sold the output for $15 per ton, netting $90 to the acre. This is said to be most unusual both as to quantity and quality. At other times prices have been higher, but the total yield has never reached these figures. The dealers have been offering such good figures for hay that many of the growers have turned wheat and barley into hay.

Taft's Pastor Believes Sunday Should Be Day of Sport

Beverly, Mass.—Rev. Paul Drake, pastor of the Beverly Universalist Church, where the Taft family attend this summer, made a plea for Sunday baseball and other sports, saying: "As for the minister, he does not need to play Sunday baseball; he has enough of it during the week if he chooses, but the laboring man has but Sunday to himself. As conditions are, he does no wrong, in my opinion, to seek any legitimate mode of amusement and recreation on that day. If the tendency today is for a free Sunday, where all can enjoy themselves in their own way, why try to stem that tendency?"

Chicago's Public Schools Are Now Ruled by Woman

Chicago.—The superintendency of Chicago's school system has fallen into the hands of a woman for the first time in its history. Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, principal of the Chicago Normal School since 1905, and an educator of national reputation, has been chosen to act in that capacity. Mrs. Young's selection followed a struggle for the office which has been going on since the resignation of Edwin G. Cooley several months ago. Mrs. Young is 64 years of age and has been engaged in teaching since 1862.

TIRES OF TRYING TO KEEP HER SPOUSE ALIVE

Wife Sues for Divorce After Husband's Sixth Effort at Suicide.

Oakland.—Six different methods of suicide were tried by Howard Melville Wilson without any serious effects other than to lose him his wife. Her nerves thoroughly unstrung, his wife, Mable Matilda, brought suit for divorce. Wilson entered no denial of her charges, so she told her story before Court Commissioner Crowell instead of to the Court.

Taken in the chronology of their narration, Wilson's first attempt at self-destruction was an attempt to jump out of the window of their home when in his drink-inflamed brain a near-by arc light took on the form of an avenging specter. He turned on the gas, many times attempted to take lysol, stabbed at his wrists with a pair of scissors and butcher knife and jumped into Lake Merritt, but always his wife was at his elbow to thwart his attempts. Really, his wife said, he did not very strenuously resist her efforts to save his life, and his Lake Merritt plunge only met him to the knees, but he kept her in a continual state of nervousness by repitition.

Once he stayed out all night, and when he came home he told her he had taken chloroform in San Francisco and been pumped out at the Emergency hospital there. She was given an interlocutory decree.

Woman Will Not Get Out of Bed.

San Francisco.—After refusing to get out of her bed for five days, Felicia Piano was committed to the insane asylum at Napa by Judge Van Nostrand. Felicia is a young lady who wandered into the Central Emergency Hospital and, having had her clothes removed, absolutely refused to leave the institution. The attaches of the hospital were confronted with the delicate problem of either putting the woman out into the street without clothes or putting her to bed. She was put to bed in a cell in the Detention Hospital. Once in bed, Felicia refused to get out. She had to be taken to the asylum at Napa on a stretcher.

Women Fall Into Nest of Snakes.

Pittsburg.—Three women who went out to pick berries on a farm about three miles from Latrobe, were rescued by farm hands after being buried in an abandoned coal mine for five hours, during which time they fought continually with a nest of huge snakes. Two of the women became hysterical on their release and are in a serious condition. As they invaded an inviting field of berries the earth suddenly yawned and swallowed them. All three fell about twenty-five feet through a break in the roof of an abandoned mine into a pool of shallow water.

Had No Facilities to Fight Fire.

Ashland, Ore. — Fire destroyed twelve dwelling houses at the town of Klamathon, on Klamath river, in Northern California, a few days ago. The loss is estimated at between $30,000 and $40,000. The fire is said to have been started by children playing. No facilities for fighting the flames were available. Klamathon formerly was a large lumbering center, but during the last few years operations have been less active.

Umpire Has No Rights.

Chicago.—A baseball umpire has no legal right to draw a revolver for protection, even if he sees forty or more infuriated fans rolling up their sleeves and rushing toward him. This, in effect, was the decision of Municipal Judge Goodnow at the Englewood court, when he fined R. L. O'Keefe, 19 years old, an umpire of the Chicago Amateur League, the costs on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Suicide of Fremont Party Survivor.

Denver.—The body of Molden Bledsoe, said to be the last survivor of General Fremont's first expedition to California, was found lodged in a fly gate to the Archer lake canal, in this city. It is believed he committed suicide. Bledsoe had led a hermit's life for years. Although 91 years of age and reputed to have considerable wealth, he drove a junk wagon.

New Road Benefits Cattlemen.

Klamath Falls.—The completion of the railroad from Weed, Siskiyou county, to this place will open a wider market for the cattle raised in this section. Heretofore the stockmen were able to ship their cattle to California markets only. Now they can reach all Pacific Coast markets.

First Depot for Western Pacific.

Oroville—The Western Pacific Company's proposed new depot here will cost in the neighborhood of $30,000 when completed. It will be 250 feet long by 67 wide.

Chalons Sur Marne, France. — M. Semmer made an aeroplane flight a few days ago of one hour, 23 minutes, 30 seconds.

Lisbon.—The failure of the proposed marriage of King Manuel and Princess Alexandra was due primarily to the fear of the prospective bride that she might be assassinated.

Honolulu. — Japanese, Portuguese, Spaniards and Porto Ricans having proved a failure as plantation laborers, the Planter's Association of Hawaii will try to solve the labor question which confronts it by importing Filipinos.

Seattle.—Elks' day at the World's Fair was celebrated by more than 15,000 members of the order, the day's event beginning with a parade through the downtown streets, where many lodges from all over the State participated.

Washington.—William B. McMaster, American Vice-Consul at Cartagena, was attacked and seriously wounded by a Columbian several days ago. The attack was without apparent motive. The Columbian Government has directed prompt punishment of the culprit.

Dover, Eng.—Hubert Latham's second attempt to fly across the English Channel and equal the record made by Bleriot, ended in failure. His motor gave out when within two miles of Dover and the aeroplane dropped into the water. Latham was rescued by a torpedo boat.

Honolulu.—Fukimara, a Hilo Japanese, who escaped from jail eight years ago, two days before the date set for his execution for the murder of a fellow countryman, has been recaptured and is now in the territorial jail here to have the death sentence, so long delayed, carried out.

Atlanta, Ga.—Any woman in Georgia who rides astride will become a felon if the bill introduced by Representative Wright of Stewart county becomes a law. Wright never saw a woman ride astride until he came to Atlanta. He was shocked at the sight of a pretty girl in divided skirts on the back of a horse.

Copenhagen.—Dispatches from Bardo report serious rioting at Archangel, Russia, where a mob of incendiaries set fire to houses and made desperate efforts to burn the whole city. A vast number of houses and most of the public buildings, the dispatches say, have ben destroyed. An attempt to burn the ships in the harbor was frustrated.

Paris.—"As soon as it is perfected, the French Army will be provided with a swarm of these airships," said General Brun, the new French Minister of War, in commenting on Bleriot's feat of crossing the English Channel in an aeroplane. General Brun said he regarded the aeroplane and the submarine as the war instruments of the future.

Tacoma.—The Coroner's jury investigating the death of Miss Margaret Cerveau returned a verdict that she was drowned. The young woman was boating with John Flynn when their skiff was capsized. Flynn swam ashore with the girl after striking her to compel her to release her clutch upon him, he testified, but despite his efforts she was dead when he dragged her from the water.

Baltimore.—United States Senator William J. Stone of Missouri was for a couple of hours under arrest here, charged with attacking Lawrence J. Brown, a negro waiter on a buffet car. The Senator stated that when he ordered lunch Brown was offensive and he rebuked him. The man afterward failed to serve the Senator and when again rebuked was impertinent, whereupon the Senator struck him with his open hand.

Montgomery, Ala.—In his message to the Legislature which convened last week, Governor James B. Comer advised making prohibition constitutional, because, he said, the members who passed the present law no doubt intended a revolution on the relation of the State to liquor and had in mind fixing it so the State would never again have saloons or liquor liscenses. The necessity for further statutory prohibition acts are found, the Governor thinks, in the fact that in many sections the law has been disregarded.

Furnished in Advance.

After facing a jury for a couple of hours the judge was congratulating himself that the case was about over, when he accidentally discovered there were only eleven jurors present.

"How's this?" he queried in surprise. "Where is the twelfth man?"

"He went to a funeral, your honor," answered the foreman, innocently; "but he left his verdict with me."

A SLUM OF CANTON.

Where the Many Poor of a Great Chinese City Live.

Stand beside the imperial custom house at Canton and let the eye range down the river toward Hong Kong. As far as the sight can reach lie boats, boats and again boats. These are no ordinary craft, mere vessels of transport plying hither and thither, but the countless homes of myriad Chinese, in which millions have been born, have lived and died. They are the dwellings of the very poor, who live in them practically free from rent, taxes and other burdens of the ordinary citizen.

The taukia (which means boat dwellers), as the denizens of these floating houses are called, form a sort of caste apart from the rest of the Cantonese. The shore dwellers regard them as belonging to a lower social order, and indeed they have many customs peculiar to themselves which mark them as a separate community. How the swarming masses of them contrive to support existence, is a mystery, but their chief mode of employment is in carrying merchandise and passengers from place to place. In some cases the daughters of the family go ashore to work in factories, as do the girls of other countries; but the year's earnings of a Chinese factory girl would scarce suffice to buy a single hat for her western sister. Of course as against this low rate of pay the standard of living is correspondingly different.

The houses which make up these vast floating slums are of all sizes. Some are but fifteen feet long. From these cramped dimensions, however, they range up to a length of fifty or sixty feet. A boat large enough to accommodate a family of moderate size can be obtained for $20, and since the anchorage is free it is obvious that the taukia effect many savings impossible to the shore dweller.—Lady's Realm.

Developing Thought-Forces.

There is nothing truer than that "we can make ourselves over by using and developing the right kind of thought forces." Not long since a young man whom I had not seen for several years called on me, and I was amazed at the tremendous change in him. When I had last seen him he was pessimistic, discouraged, almost despairing; he had soured on life, lost confidence in human nature and in himself. During the interval he had completely changed. The sullen, bitter expression that used to characterize his face was replaced by one of joy and gladness! He was radiant, cheerful, happy, hopeful.

The young man had married a cheerful, optimistic wife, who had the happy faculty of laughing him out of his "blues" and melancholy, changing the tenor of his thoughts, cheering him up, and making him put a higher estimate on himself. His removal from an unhappy environment, together with his wife's helpful influence and his own determination to make good, had all worked together to bring about a revolution in his mental make-up. The love-principle and the use of the right thought-force had verily made a new man of him.

He is a fortunate man who early learns the secret of scientific brain-building, and who acquires the inestimable art of holding the right suggestion in his mind, so that he can triumph over the dominant note in his environment when it is unfriendly to his highest good.—Orison Swett Marden, in Success Magazine.

Dr. Graham Bell's Secret.

The success of Dr. Alexander Graham Bell in aviation recalled to a reporter at the Pen and Pencil Club in Philadelphia an interview with the inventor.

"It was," said the reporter, "at the time when the first news of Dr. Bell's aeronautical achievements had begun to leak out.

"'With the aeroplane,' I said to him, 'you bid fair, sir, to accomplish as much as you have done with the telephone.' What is the secret of your success?'

"Dr. Bell smiled.

"'The secret of success,' he said, 'is simple. It is to live like a hermit and work like a horse.'"

Buys Musician's Birthplace.

The city of Vienna has purchased the house in which Franz Schubert was born, in 1797, for $22,000.

The house is of the old-fashioned, one-story type of building which is fast disappearing from modern Vienna. The front is devoid of any attractive features, but the little court behind, with wooden galleries and a garden on the steep hillside, have a certain picturesqueness, and few music-lovers go to Vienna without making a pilgrimage to Schubert's birthplace.

A Crowded Universe.

In New Haven the committee of a graduating class once went to a local jeweler with a commission for a class badge. They had in view a design representing a youthful graduate surveying the universe.

"About how large would you like the figure?" the jeweler asked.

"Well," said the spokesman, "we thought the graduate ought to cover about three-quarters of the badge, and the universe the rest."—Success Magazine.

THE CROSS-WAYS.

Time Comes When the Older Sister Must Step Aside.

Sibyl, her pretty girlish face angry and mutinous, dashed from the room, slamming the door behind her. In the silence that followed, her last words still seemed to echo.

"It isn't fair—just because you're the oldest and have always had things, that we should never have anything. It's our turn. How would you have liked it when you were eighteen? You've had your good times. It's just downright selfish of you not to let us have ours, and I'm going to say it out for once, so now!"

Virginia drew a long breath. It had been "said out" unquestionably. Going to the door, she turned the key. It had been coming for a long time—some such crisis as this; now that it had come, she was going to face it without flinching. She seated herself before her dressing-table and looked steadily in the glass. Yes, it was true—she was not so pretty as she had been; the first girlish bloom was gone—gone to Sibyl and Evelyn.

"Point one," she said, slowly. "Virginia Crane, you are jealous of your little sisters.

"Point two. Sibyl is right. You have had your good times, and it is their turn.

"Point three. Something must be done at once. What shall it be?"

There was a long silence after the third point. Virginia was thinking. There were several things she might do. She could go abroad with the Clarendons. She thought that over a while, and then put it aside. "I won't shirk!" she declared. She could take up settlement work, for instance. That, too, she rejected.

"It wouldn't," she said, with grim humor, "be fair to the poor. They have enough to bear without having to help out the poor rich."

There remained one way, a very distasteful one, but she could do it—at least, she could give it a trial. She would study the art of being an older sister. It would not be easy for her to step aside gracefully, not half so easy as for some girls, but she could try; she could study it as she had studied over her music. For an hour she sat there, thinking it out. Then she opened her door.

"Sibyl!" she called.

Sibyl, half-ashamed and half-defiant, came hesitatingly.

"I've changed my mind about the concert," Virginia said. "You are right—it is your turn. I'll stay and entertain Aunt Gracia. And would you like to wear my string of pearls to your party?"

Sibyl stared in bewilderment, the color flooding her face. "O Virginia," she gasped, "do you mean it? I—" impetuously she threw her arms about her sister's neck—"I was such a horrid pig!" she cried.

And suddenly to Virginia there came a strange thought. Suppose in the "good times" she were missing the joy of being a sister!—Youth's Companion.

Bullying the Hens.

Years spent in providing food for boarders, in watching them eat it, and in hearing them comment on it, had accustomed Mrs. Orne to all sorts of complaints, reasonable and otherwise. She was a pleasant woman, and tried to anticipate the objector's objections and to smooth his feelings as speedily as might be. Once in a while her readiness with a soft answer was a trifle too quick.

It was at breakfast, and Mr. Smith who, since his attack of typhoid, had been consuming vast quantities of eggs looked up from his fourth with a slightly offended air.

"I wish," he said, from the opposite end of the table, "that these hens could be got to lay their eggs fresh!"

The last two words only caught Mrs. Orne's ear. "I know it," she said, emphatically, "and I think just the way you do about it. It seems somehow as if it couldn't be done any more. Years ago, before Mr. Orne died, it wasn't like this at all. Then you could make them give you fresh ones."

A Base Trick.

It often happens that the easiest way to do a thing is the wrong way, maintains a writer in the Washington Star. The story is told of a man who had great difficulty in spelling words that had "ei" and "ie" in them. One day a friend offered to give him an infallible rule for such cases.

"It is a rule," he said, "that in forty-seven years has never failed me."

His friend expressed his delight and waited. The man resumed:

"The rule is simply this: Write your 'i' and 'e' exactly alike, and put your dot exactly between them."

Barbers and Surgeons.

John Le Barbour was the first master of the Honorable Company of Barbers six centuries ago. At one time the barbers and the surgeons preyed upon the public in loving brotherhood and settled their family quarrels under the roof of one hall. By an agreeable arrangement the community was to be "bled" on a system which forbade the surgeon to cut hair, shampoo or shave and required the barber to proceed no further in the art of healing than the extraction of teeth and "cupping." But as the surgeons grew in the social scale they sighed for relief from their lowlier brethren and built a hall and formed a guild of their own, magnanimously handing over the joint home in Monkwell street to the barbers.—London Standard.

Why Scotsmen Wear Kilts.

A. J. Drexel brings from his Scottish estate a story of a Highlander.

"There was a well known American writer," he said at a dinner, "who automobiled through Scotland, and at a hotel in the Highlands was treated with the greatest incivility.

"Accordingly he complained to the manager.

"'And I complain in particular,' he said, 'about my waiter in the dining room. The inattention and insolence of this man are insupportable.'

"The manager sought out the waiter, a raw-boned Highlander.

"'Dugald,' he said, 'the American visitor accuses you of inattention and insolence. What have you to say?'

"Dugald snorted and hotly replied: "It's no' to be expeckit that a self-respectin' Scot could wait on him wi' civeelity. Wasna it he that said we took to the kilt because our feet were too large to get through trousers?"

The Odor of Sanctity.

Americans, having at home little that is really ancient, are apt to reverence antiquity abroad. The wonder of the average tourist from "the States" in the presence of the ruins of Europe is familiar to the foreigner, and a phlegmatic visitor is rather a relief.

A gentleman resident for some years in Rome, says a writer in the Philadelphia Record, relates that he has found but one such traveler.

"He is a Southerner, and I gave a day to showing him about. The first church we visited was, I think, the Ara Coeli, on the Capitoline hill.

"'This church,' I said, 'is about a thousand years old.'

"'Humph!' said he. 'It smells a lot older!'"

FIFTEENTH YEAR, — No. 4

—have decided to go back to "we." After all, it is the best term.

Don't you think the San Francisco papers look better without pictures?

The secret of keeping trade at home is to keep prices down equal to that city merchant's.

Bro. Hathaway is getting to be a knocker-boost. Now Hath, old man, you need a vacation, that's all.

Are you boosting Campbell to the best of your ability? We wonder if many can truthfully answer "yes."

The Boosters' Banquet at Mountain View was a great success and if they do half the things they talked about they will be exceptions to the rule. We had one of those Banquets this spring, and the ones who said the most about what they'd done and were going to do, have done nothing ever since. We're going to wake them up though if we can.

All trains stop at Campbell. Now here is a chance for the Improvement Club to get together with the real estate men and get busy. South of the water tank there is a fine place for a good big sign telling strangers: This is Campbell, the Orchard City, the most self sppporting community in the state. All trains stop at Campbell. Electric railroad connects the rest of the universe to Campbell. All roads lead to Campbell. Everybody comes to Campbell.—something on that order. Boost, you people, boost. Come on now, let's get busy.

Thus we have the advantages of incorporation. A contract for the building of a municipal sewer system, has been let in the town of Mountain View, and has called for bids for a large, two storied mission type Town Hall. The Leader says:—"The building will have a red tile roof and will be finished with cement veneer and pressed brick ornamental corners. The building will be built on the most approved sanitary plans and will be fitted with all modern conveniences. When the building is completed there will be no city building in the valley that will surpass it in architectural beauty or in convenience. The site of the building will be on the south east corner of California and Castro streets.

TO THE PEOPLE OF CAMPBELL
AND SURROUNDING COUNTRY

Permit me to call your attention to my trade as a shoemaker. I have learned the trade and know my business. I guarantee satisfactory work. I will use the very best material and will charge regular prices for my work. You don't need to go to San Jose to have your fine shoes sspaired. Help to build up your home town by patronizing home trade. That is what I myself expect to do. I am here to stay. Try me.

YOU CAN ENJOY

A good meal—good things to eat after you have lost teeth replaced. Delaying loses more teeth and is more expensive when you are ready for the attention they should have now.

If you have only a few real teeth left, then it is all the more reason that you should act at once.

One reason you should try our services—new patients are glad to send others.
